THE COMPETITIVE COMPANY BRILL.

WASHINGTON, May 97 .- The National drill amphiltingater was crowded with people when the competitive company drills begun at the clock yesterday. First came the Governor's Guard, of North Carolina. Their isovements were very slow, but they did not excel in the nisuual of arms. The Louisisma Rijles drijled in such a manner as to circlt much applause. The parafield Guards, of Connecticut, in the manual of arms were excellent, but in military ovolutions were Their drilling, both in manest and marching, was excellent, and it was generally conceded that no other compasy before them had done near so well. Several serious errors were, however, eredited to them.

The principal feature of the day, however, was the drilling of the Toledo I adets, and a superb exhibition of the manual of arms it appeared to be. The movements and a superb exhibition of the manual of arms it appeared to be. The movements required of this company ware mere difficult and complex than any thus far shown in the drill. Vociferous applause greeted their every action, and the cheering at tunes was so great that the judges were forced to order allence so that the captain's crumuants could be heard by the Cadets. The impression is universal that the first prize will go to Toledo.

THREATENS TO STRIKE. Enginad's High Executioner Has a Griev

LONDON, May 26.-Engiand's Lord High

Executioner, more generally known as the Public Hasgman, han a grievance which he le forcisg upon the attention of the Secretary of State for Home Affairs, and he has actually gone so far as to threaten to strike unless prempt atten-tion is given to his case. Under the old regulations in force at Newgate Prison, "Jack Ketch," as the hangman has been nicknamed for a couple of ceaturies received a salary of five dollars per week from the corporation in addition to a fee of tifty dollars for each swing-ling at which he officiated. Since the passage of the aew prisess act, however, the hangman's perquisites in the shape of permanent retainers have been abolished, and, as a matter of fact, there is now no authority which has any coatrol over him, although there is a general understanding that he has a monopoly of the business of ushering criminals into the great beyond. But the exceutioner has conceived the idea that his position should be officially recogaized by the Home Office, and so be bas mude a formal demand that the nama "Join Berry" be piaced upon the list of the civil servants of the Crewn. When it is remembered that this jist jaciudes some hundreds of Earls and Dukes, Cabinei Ministers, a poet laureate, and other dis-tiaguished people too numerous to men-tion, the shock which the audaelons de-mand has created in aristocratic society can be usderstood. Berry, however, is in real earnost, and as there are half a dozen murdrers to be hung in different sections of the country during the next six weeks, and nobody to heng them unless Berry is placeted, the officials at the Home Office are in a quandary.

FULL OF FIGURES.

The Public Debt in the Past and Present.

nteresting Facts Gleaned From a Big Hook Issaed From the Treasory Depart-

WASHINGTON, May 25.-A volume labeled 'Statistical Abstract of the United States" has just been insued from the Treasury Department. It has something ever two huadred pages, and they bristle over with figures. There is not a page in the whole book that is not rrowded with figures from top to bettoia. Ose page gives some inter esting figures on the public dobt. They are especially interesting just now, because of the fact that the last of the three per cent. bonds are now called in, and our National deht is easily figured up. For the first time in nearly a quarter of a century the interest bearing debt has failen below a billion dollars. Omitting reference to the Pacific railroad bonds, our interest bearing deht is now $987,967,500. Twrnty-two years ago it was $2,331,530,294. At that time the interest amounted to one hundred and fifty millions a year; now it amounts to forty millions. Then the debt was $78 per head of population; now it is but a little over 80 each. Then the annual interest was $4.20 per capita; now it is sixty-eight cents. Now we are paying four and a half per cent. on $250,000,000, and four per cent. on the remaining $737,000,000. Then we were paying seven and three-tenths per cent. on $250,000,000 and six per. ent. oa $1,484,000,000.

A PATRIOTIC IRISH WOMAN. She Drapes Her House in Black on Queen Victoria's Hirthday.

NEW HAVEN, Ct., May 25.-Mre. Patrick O'ltrien, of 256 Hamilton street, created a scusation in the lower section of the city, resterday, by celebrating Queen Victoria's birtiday in a very peculiar way. She draped the entire front of her house in black, and black streamers ornamented a portion of the interior. The front of the with large mottees not complimentary to the Queen. One of them read: "God save Ireland." "From the widow of John Brown." Crowda gathered in front of the house nil day and night. The otreet was impassable for a block in the vicinity of house. The crowd was composed of the Irish element throughout, and 'lirien was rheered time and again. The cele hration wound up by the harning of effigies of the Queen and Lord Lansdowne. A huge boniire was built, and while the effigion were being destroyed the crowd howled in joy and discharged an abundance of tire murder against Lint Anderson and Ed.
Evans. The testimony shows that coustables were watching these mea, but were thrown off their guard by their combrave enough to show themselves to put a veto on the proceedings. The police were on hand to prevent unnecessary disturb-Trouble Ahead.

When the appetite fulls, and sleep grows a stress and unrefreehing, there is trouble whead. The digestive organs, when healthy, rave food; the nervous system, when vigornave food; the nervous system, when Algorous and Iranguil, gives its possessor no uncashess at high. A lond, to be effective, should not be a there appetizer, nor are the nerves to be strengthened and soothed by the readed action of a redative or a mercilic. What is required 13 a medicine which had garnes the stomach, and proundes ussimilation of food by the system, by which means the nervous system, as well as other parts of the physical organism, are strengthened. These are the effects of Hostelier's Stomach litters, a medicine whose reputation is landed dramly in public confidence, and which physicalus commend for its ionic, and blions and other proporties. It is used with the least results in fever and ague, their maintien, kidney and uterino weakness, and other mainties.

It was at Constantinople. Wo found ourselvos hen fleet of sixty vessels, of all na-tions. Ours was the only vessel flying the

The time hangs heavily when ships are waiting for freights or winds to start them into active service. Pera had become dread-fully dull to us, and we had done up Constantinople and the surrounding country to tur heart's content. With the exception of an occasional dinner at the Consulate, there was no recreation to be hud—no theaters or operae. A dozen of us tried to swim the Bosporue from the point from which Byron was eald to have started. He must have accomplished his feat in the summer, for we eignally failed in the attempt, owing to the temperature of the water, and were glad enough to be taken on heard our boats before we got half way.

Onr only resort was a hotel which was kept by the wife of the captain of the port, who was in exile for murder: She was a true type of Grecian beauty, a native ol Athens, just such a person as the hard who swam so weli would immortalize in verso. Between the hotel and the lunding where we took our heats for the ship was a distance of about three-quarters of a mile. Most of the streets were guarded by gutes, which were closed at night, when up one was allowed to pase—unless sailors, who with a few plasters could bribe the guard to open for them at any time. We never ventured to be out late unless we were a dozen or so strong; then we would sally forth, lantern in one band and pistol in the other, ready to defend ourselves against robbers, who did not hesitute to take life. The Turkish authorities took no notice of troubles arising among foreigners. The coasuls were supposed to care for the interests of their own people. I saw a Greek stab and rob an Austrian captain within twenty feet of a Turkish guard, who did not luterfero, and who showed less interest

And it tho upper stories, the magnificeuce within was left to our imngination. As we were walking past one afteraoon one of the windows was suddenly thrown open, and there appeared at it the most beautiful woman I had ever seen. We were fairly electrified by her heauty. She had defied a well-known edict in showing us her face, as we knew. Instantly as she uppeared we saw her throw something over the wall, and then she closed the window. It was a note which she had thrown. We all rushed to pick it up. The prize was wen by a Swedish Captain, who immediately pocketed it.

The night was spent in devising means of rescue. The captain sworo upon the Biblo that he would marry her if rescued, and if she would consent. Jowels are most prized when most difficult to obtain. I was in full sympathy with his feelings, and when the dny broke our plan of action had been developed. I say that he was unfitted to.

Among our friends we were to pretend that no importance attached to the missive which the lady-had thrown ont. As a reason for his delay in not sailing the Swedish Cuptnin was to say that he had discovered Cupthin was to say that he had discovered a leak in the chip's top side after he had doaded her, which made it necessury to curren ber for repairs. It required much tact to avoid the captains with whom we had been he daily company, and to make excuses to stay ashore late every night. We stayed ashore to become well acquainted with the guards, whom withought we could have pushed as the first night we half staggered up to the gate, handed the guards one hundred plasters, and then showed them our empty pockets, whoreupon they allowed ue to pass through the gate, pointing to their hearts to assure us that no one should pass that way to molest us. During the duy we had paced the distance from the gate to the apot where we might expect to find the thread, and we now had but to pace off the same number of steps in the darkness. In the main rigging as a private eigenal. These were put out as econ as we reached the deck.

Entoring the cahin, we again saw the funce of the lady. As I have before said, sho was the most heautiful woman I had over aem. I could not help feeling that way friand was not the handsome fellow.

The aext night we received the following answer:

"I will provide the ladder, which you will pull toward you by the cord. I have atmisted enumen who will inssist me, as his life belongs to me. Think well of the danger. I have not right to pince you in jeopardy: In ease of discovery, a rope-ladder then you would prove your guilt; you would be seized med disposed of none would know how except the headsman. Your crime and mine are punishable by death. My life is nothing, aor would I be missed, but you have loved oses at homo. Should you change your mind on the night appointed, God have mercy upoo me! My friend, Captnin H——, had fslien most desperutoly in love. I say desperately, because he notther slopt, atc, ner drenk; nor would be give me uny rest. It was re-nssuring to me to see a fellow so far gone; I had thought myself the only one who could be so "cracked." He was always at my heels, and had become my chadew. I learned his whole history. The cause of his going to sea wua the removal of a flax enhnired, hiuc-eyed echooi-mate, who had been his beloved iittle friead from his earliest memory. Her parents had moved to Moscow, and thence, as he was informed, to Odessa, from which port he had last salled, with a cargo of grain for Falmouth for orders. At Odessa he had made the most scarching inquiries, and lenrnod that a family of the same name had gone to Alexaudria about six years provious. He had been, until our present adventure remarkubly quiet and diffident. He had told me that his diffidence arese from the fact that he was almost a woman-hater, and that he never expected to be happy until he found his enrly tove, whom he last saw when sho was cieven and he twolvo years of age. Ilis interest in the fair eaptivo was doubtiese aroused by the fact that she strongly resembled his early love. The eventful sight strived. I gave a supper at the hetel to allay any suspicion. Supper was ordered for twenty, and was served at eloveu o'elock, which meant an ali-night spreo. Wino flowed freely and had its effect upon our friends. At tweive o'clock, by a proconcerted arrangement, a noto was handed to me by uservant. I protended that it had been sont hy my second officer, and that it snneunced that my chief officer had killed one of the erow. Apologizing for my sudden departure, promised to return as soon as possible and fluish the night. My friend, Captain H insisted upon going with me. I protested. but he was obstinate, and finally, as the company insisted thut it was not safe to go nlone, we two left ln company.

We arrived at the guto in our usual ap parently drunken condition, feed the guard liberally, and passed through. A few minutes later we returned and had our clears

As my own marriage had been very romantic, this affair was doubly exciting to me. The note was written in a good English hand, as follows:

The events of the previous few days were like a dreum out of which I had just awakened. The consequences might have been corious to me. But I was always ready for advoutures, and had been in many a predicament equally hazardous. I lived, as all young sadors live, on romance and daring. The excitement of this occasion was as exhil-The aext night we received the following arting to me as champague is to a wine-

In the merning I was visited by several of the captains who had been my guests of the night before. They had foit some fear for our safety whom they learned that a conflict bad taken place between the guard in the street we passed through and a band of Grock robbers. Two of the robbers had been killed. These must have been our pursuers, who, after we had oluded them, had returned and attacked the guard. They were overpowered by a company of soldiers from the fort, who were making their rounds to relieve the guard. Of course l knew nothing of what had become of the Swedish Captain. I assured them that ho went safely on hoard, and was to have ssiled at sunrism, and that, as the wind was fresh and fair I supposed ho was off. I feigned an attnek of rheumatism as an excuso for not going ashoro that day. The following day our Coasul, hoaring I was mudo her escape by the aid, it was supposed, of the Greek rohbers, some of whom had been captured and would be executed unless they told whore their companions and the captive were to be found. It was supposed that she was held for a ransom. A rigid soarch was made on board all the Greek vessels, of which there were many lying In the harbor, hut, of course, the

Our Consui, I think, had his suspicions as to the manner of the lady's escape from the palace. He asked me to dine with him, saying that I, being a person so well known in l'era, would be missed il I did act go ashere and show myself at my usual resorts. I took his advice, and dined with him, remaining all aight at the Consulate, which he insisted upon iny making my home for the rest of my stay. He was too much of a gentioman to question me, whatever he may have thought, and I deemed it advisable, because of his official position, to keep him in ignoranco of my part in the affair. I will here give the sequel. Nine years later, while in command of the clipper-ship Dreadnaught, arriving in New York one day I made fast at my usual herth at the foot of Rector street, when Captain Hope, a Sandy Hook pilot who was harbormssler at the that he is helped upward. THE CHINESE GODS.

Much has been written and said about hew to make home happy. This meraliet and the preacher have hackneyed this theme until it would seem nothing more remained to be said. But the 'philosophers have gone far out of their way to account for the prevalence of Ill-assorted couples and unhappy homes, and have over-locked the chief cause. Most of the unhappiness of married life can be traced directly to those functional dorangements to which womes are subject. In nine cases out of ten the Irritable, dissatisfied and unhappy wife is a sufferer from some "formaic complaint." A trial of Dr. Pierco's Favorite Prescription will produce more domestic happiness than a million sermons or philosophicat treatises. It cures all those peculiar weaknesses and nilments incident to women. It is the only medicine soid by druggists, under a positive gnarantee from the manufacturers, that it will give satisfaction in every case, or money will be refunded. #### TREATING THE WRONG DISEASE.

Many times women call on their family physicians, suffering, as they imagine, one from dyspeysia, another from heart disease, snother from liver or kidney disease, snother from nervous exhaustion or prostration, another with pain here or there, and in this way they all presents all the total their easy-going and indifferent, or over-busy doctor, separate and distinct diseases, for which he prescribes his pills and potions, assuming them to be such when, in reality, they are all only symptoms caused by some womh disorder. The physician, ignorant of the cause of suffering, encourages his practice until large bills are made. The suffering patient gets no better, but probably worse by reason of the delay, wrong treatment and consequent remplications. A proper medicine, like Dr. Pierce's Esverite Prescription, directed to the cause would have cutirely removed the disease, thereby dispelling all those distressing symptoms, and instituting comfurt instead of prolonged misery.

Having exhaosted the skill of three physicians. I was completely discouraged, and so weak I could with difficulty cross the room using the local treatment recommended in his 'Common Sense Medical Adviser.' I commessed to improve at once. In three months I was perfectly cured, and have had no trouble sisce. I wrote s letter to my family paper, briefly mentioning how my health had been restored, and offering to send the full particulars to any one writing ino for them, and enclosing a stamped-enrelope for reply. I have received over four hundred letters.
Is reply, I have described my case and the treatment meed, and have earnestly advised them to 'do likewise.' From a grest many I liave received second letters of thanks, stating that they had commenced the use of 'Favorite Prescription,' had send the

JEALOUS

Of Crisical, Mich., writes: "I was troulded with female weakness, leucorrhea and felling of the womb for seven years, so I had to keep my bed for a good part of the time. I doctored with an army of different physicians, and spent large suma persuaded me to try your medicines, which I was loath to do, because I was prejudiced sgainst them, and the doctors said they would do me no good. I finally told my husband that If he would get me some of your medicines, I would try them against lie solvies of my physician. He got me six bottles of the "Favorite Prescription," also six bottles of the "liscovery," for ten dollars. I took three bottles of "Discovery" and four of "Favorite Prescription," and I have been a sound woman for four years. I then gave the balance of the medicine to my sister, who was troubled it the same way, and she cured herself in a short time. I have not bad to take any medicine now for almost four years."
